Dear Parent or Carer,

RE: Botswana Expedition

Thank you to those who have already signed up to the Botswana Expedition. For anyone still wanting to partake, ParentPay is still open to take deposits and BaseCamp (via Outlook Expeditions) is still open for sign-ups.

There are still plenty of places available and we would encourage anyone unsure to speak either to Miss Bramley or myself – this really is a wonderful opportunity and we hate to think people have missed out because of the original deposit deadline having passed.

A common concern for current Year 11 students has been Sixth Form/college uncertainty – we would encourage anyone wanting to attend to sign-up regardless. Whether you attend Sixth Form at Driffield or elsewhere, it will not affect your place on the expedition, and you will still have the rest of Year 11, as well as team fundraising and training events, to feel at home within our team.

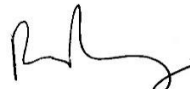

We understand Outlook have sent out their own final reminder, but we didn't want to feel that any stone has been left unturned in helping students decide whether they want to take up this wonderful opportunity. The link to our Expedition website is below, which includes a link to watch the webinar hosted by Outlook, which gave an overview of the itinerary as well as answering questions regarding fundraising and logistics of the trip. There is also a copy of the payment plan – the dates will not have changed despite a slightly later sign-up.
